Seven men who escaped the explosion but are suffering from the effect of black damp were taken to local hospitals.

It is believed they will recover. Volunteer rescue teams were organized by miners, but their efforts were futile.

A special train bearing a U. S. mine bureau car was dispatched to the mine within an hour after the accident and was in charge of D. J. Parker, chief of the division of mines rescue cars who was conducting an inspection trip in this vicinity.

The mine was sealed today by state officials.

NATIONS SHOULD SUCCOR RUSSIA GERMAN PLEADS

Maximilian Harden Declares Million Workers Should Be Sent.

Berlin, Sept. 1.—"Europe fiddles while Russia is dying," is the keynote of an other clarion call to the nations of the world by Maximilian Harden in his famous weekly, Die Zukunft, urging all nations to join hands at once in a systematic plan for relief and construction of Russia without, however, meddling in that country's internal affairs.

Harden's proposal for a "general staff" to be headed by Herbert Hoover and Marshal Poch to command an army of a million workers for Russian relief and reconstruction exclusively reported in these dispatches Tuesday, has caused widespread discussion in Europe. He now follows it with a warning that the present American relief action is but a "drop in the bucket."

The noted editor draws a vivid word picture of the Russian situation. He warns that it spells disaster to the whole eastern hemisphere unless all nations "pitch in" immediately.

"More than sixty million Russians have neither food nor clothing, neither coal nor oil, neither doctors nor medicines," he writes.

Western Europe has no conception of the extent of the Russian misery. Of all the white peoples in the world, the Russians alone are capable of such suffering as they have already passed through. The fertile Volga country resembles a desert. Where former days there bloomed a veritable paradise of corn, now one can trade a good horse for half a pood of wheat.

RECOGNITION OF MEXICO BY U. S. BELIEVED NEAR

Obregon to Send Important Message to Congress Over Negotiations.

Mexico City, Sept. 1.—President Obregon was prepared today to send an important message to congress dealing with the negotiations that have been proceeding between the Mexican foreign office and the American state department relative to recognition.

Congress was scheduled to convene in regular session following a brief vacation and belief was strong among the members that recognition will be accorded by the U. S. before adjournment is taken.

The president's message already has been prepared and it is understood to deal with the proposed treaty of amity and commerce as well as the negotiations.

The opinion prevails in official circles that the way is rapidly being cleared for an understanding. President Obregon and other Mexican officials have contended that the United States should recognize the Mexican administration first and negotiate the treaty afterwards whereas the American state department has been insisting upon the treaty first and recognition later.

There was no session of the American oil representatives and government officials today. They will not be renewed until Friday.

Mexican labor bodies have adopted a resolution endorsing the stand of the union coal miners in West Virginia and expressing sympathy with their struggle against the operators.

MACHINE GUN BARRAGES LAID DOWN ON MINERS' POSITIONS EARLY THURSDAY; FIGHTING DIES

Three Thousand Men in Logan's First Line of Defense Await Coming of Miners—12,000 Engaged in Desperate Battle Wednesday Night.

Logan, W. Va., Sept. 1.—"The miners have either retreated or are planning an aggressive action on a big scale." This was the official statement of Colonel W. E. Eubank, commander of the citizens army at 9:30 a. m.

Military authorities estimate that thirty miners were killed at the battle of Crooked Creek about nine miles from Logan Court House yesterday. There is no way of confirming the estimate at present.

Three deputies are known to be dead.

The military authorities at 9:30 a. m. said that sniping had again started at Crooked Creek and at Blair mountain.

Miner sharpshooters are popping at the Logan defenders on top of the hills. No casualties have been announced this morning.

Logan, W. Va., Sept. 1.—Machine gun barrages were laid down on miners' positions at four a. m. today by the Logan army of defense.

There was no response except at Peach Creek. This led to the hope that the miners army may have abandoned the attack for the present.

Daybreak found close to three thousand men in Logan's first line. Reinforcements had been dashed forward during the night in anticipation of a concerted attack of miners this morning.

Scouts had reported four thousand miners massed in front of the twenty five miles of defense between Mill Creek and Blair mountain.

Gore, brother of John Gore, a deputy killed in the battle at Blair mountain yesterday, left early today with a small detachment of men.

"I am going to Blair mountain to avenge my brother's death," he declared.

An element of romance and mystery was thrown into the Logan industrial war today when scouts brought in the story that a woman spy had gone through the lines early yesterday morning carrying information to the mine army.

The scout declared he had been surprised to find tracks of a woman's feet on Blair mountain. He also found a dainty woman's handkerchief.

The footprints were tracked far down the mountain toward the camp of the miners.

Officials believed here that spies are carrying information of the Logan preparations and defense systems to the miners. Such spies, it captured, will be severely dealt with, the authorities declared.

Reinforcements arrived in Logan during the night and early morning

Governor Regards Martial Law Inevitable—Report Says 100 Killed in Wednesday's Battle—Reinforcements Arrive

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 1.—A report received here early this morning said that leaders of the miners, now engaged in a death grapple with Sheriff Don Chafin, his deputies and volunteers in Logan and Boone counties, were at a mining camp at Whitesburg this morning recruiting reinforcements for their lines following yesterday's fighting, when, according to unofficial reports, eleven men were killed, eight miners and three deputies.

Reports from both official and unofficial sources reaching Governor

CHARGES LIQUOR WAS TRAFFICKED IN

Mansfield, Sept. 1.—Declaring that during its deliberations, it has come to the knowledge of the jurors comprising the Richland County Grand Jury, that there has been an illegal traffic in intoxicating liquors in the office of the County Auditor and the County Commissioners at the Richland County Court House, affidavits were filed that Charles Huber, former deputy in the office of the county auditor, and Harold McCullough, Clerk of the County Commissioners were engaged in selling intoxicating liquors. One of the affidavits was filed against Huber and four against McCullough.

An indictment also was returned against Thomas H. Dickerson, County Commissioner, charging him with having made and presented false bills.

That 100 were killed in Wednesday's battle appears to be a pretty high casualty list when reports from other sources are taken into consideration. Sheriff Pinson is awaiting confirmation of this report.

Williamson, W. Va., Sept. 1.—Reports have reached Sheriff A. C. Pinson, of Mingo county from the Logan-Boone county border, where a furious battle raged all day Wednesday between 6,000 armed striking miners on one side and deputy sheriffs, state police and volunteer citizens on the other, that as many as 100 men were killed in yesterday's fighting. Reports reaching Sheriff Pinson were fragmentary and the number of reported casualties differed with each report that came in. The report of 100 dead has not been confirmed from any other sources.

That 100 were killed in Wednesday's battle appears to be a pretty high casualty list when reports from other sources are taken into consideration. Sheriff Pinson is awaiting confirmation of this report.

Williamson, which is 29 miles away from the scene of the fighting, has received no word from the battle front since 11 o'clock last night when it was reported to Sheriff Pinson that although fighting still was in progress the situation was more favorable to Sheriff Don Chafin's forces.

Reinforcements were arriving from districts to aid the Logan county defenders and these were being thrown into the battle lines.

Within the Miners Lines, Madison W. Va., Sept. 1.—Fifty miners are reported killed or badly wounded in renewed fighting at Blair this morning. The report was brought back from the front by two men, both wounded. The detachment is said to have attacked a machine gun nest on Blair mountain.

The entire force, with the exception of the two making the report is said to have been wiped out or taken prisoners.

Reinforcements are steadily going forward today to the miners massed on the Logan border.

HORNICK-SHOUGH NUP- TIALS SOLEMNIZED THURSDAY.

The marriage of Miss Agnes Rebecca Hornick, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto A. Hornick, of East Third street, and Mr. Newton Henry Shough, son of Mrs. C. N. Shough of South Charleston, Ohio, was solemnized at the bride's parents home, Thursday afternoon, at 12:45 o'clock, in the presence of the members of the two immediate families.

Quiet simplicity added a charming note to the ceremony. The service was read by the Rev. G. A. Scott of the First Methodist Church, the bride's pastor, before an altar of palms and ferns arranged within the French doors of the living room. Tall white wicker baskets upon white pedestals, and holding asters, were placed at each side of the altar.

The bride was attired for the ceremony in a becoming afternoon frock of dark brown crepe-back satin, with touches of pheasant shade. Her flowers were a corsage of bride's roses. There were no attendants.

Following the ceremony, a four course dinner was served. Covers were laid for the entire party at one large table in the Hornick dining room. A handsome wedding cake centered the table, crystal baskets of pink roses being used at each end. Mr. and Mrs. Shough left Thursday afternoon by motor for Cleveland, Buffalo and Niagara Falls, where they will spend two weeks. Mrs. Shough's traveling outfit was a suit of taupe clipped beaver, with a hat of the same shade.

Mr. and Mrs. Shough will be at home after September 15 at their home on Jamestown street, South Charleston, Ohio. Mr. Shough is connected with the Shough Milling Company at South Charleston as junior partner. He and his bride are both well known and popular in this vicinity.

BRIDGE LUNCHEON IS CHARMING AFFAIR

The home of Mrs. Dilver Belden, on North Galloway Street, was the scene of the early autumn's most charming affair, Wednesday afternoon, when Mrs. Belden entertained forty young women honoring Miss Pauline Shoup, the bride elect of Mr. Robert Arthur Kelly.

Lovely baskets of gayly colored garden flowers were used in profusion about the rooms of the Belden home, adding to the many prettily arranged features of the affair. The dainty shades of pink and white were combined in the decorations and luncheon courses.

The guests of the afternoon also added a handsome effect to the scene in their many-colored afternoon frocks. Miss Shoup, the honor guest was stunning in a frock of red kitten's ear satin, trimmed in monkey fur, a gold cloth hat being worn with the costume.

Twelve of Miss Shoup's most intimate friends, were seated at the bride's table. A Jack Horner pie centered the table from which ribbon streamers led to each cover. Each guest at the bride's table received small gifts by pulling the streamers within the cake. The guest favors were nosegays of garden flowers.

At the small tables at which the other guests were seated crystal bud vases of sweet heart roses formed the centerpiece. The luncheon consisted of three courses.

At bridge, which was enjoyed by the guests during the remainder of the afternoon the prize was a half dozen ramekins. Miss Shoup was presented a dainty tea apron.

The only out of town guest at the affair was Mrs. Edwin Littell, of Dayton.

Rev. Albert Read read the ring ritual. The bride's wedding gown was of canton crepe trimmed with silken fringe; she carried a corsage bouquet of bride roses; her going away gown was of blue tricotine with tan waist, with gloves and hat to match.

Assumption that all on board were safe was taken from the statement in the message that nothing but a powerful tug was necessary to carry out the rescue work. BAR ASSOCIATION TO END SESSION

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 1.—The 44th annual convention of the American Bar Association and the annual convention of the Ohio State Bar Association will close this evening at 7 o'clock with a banquet at hotel Gibson.

The sessions today were taken up with committee reports, addresses and election of officers. The morning session was presided over by Frederick W. Lehmann of St. Louis. Eight sections and seven committees reported on their activities during the year and some interesting and novel departures were proposed.

One of these innovations, intended to deal out justice in criminal cases swiftly is now being adopted by Pennsylvania. Edwin M. Abbott, chairman of the Pennsylvania state committee on revision of the Penal code said, discussing "stealing."

Members this afternoon attended an old fashion barbecue and burgoo dinner at Latonia race track, served by Colonel Thomas Cody, famous bluegrass barbequeist.

RAISE COAL PRICE

Hazleton, Pa., Sept. 1.—The Lehigh Valley Coal Company today advanced the retail price of anthracite coal ten cents a ton, bringing the present price up to quotations of last April. Today's new price will remain in effect for the fall and winter. A 50 cent cut was made in the spring to encourage summer buying when the mines are slack on orders.

KITCHEN ESTABLISHED

Rica, Sept. 1.—Soup and bread kitchens have been established by the American relief administration in Petrograd and are swamped by the rush of hungry Russians, said a Petrograd dispatch today. A train bearing foodstuffs from Hamburg and Danzig warehouses departed for Russia Tuesday. Steamers bearing American relief supplies are enroute from the United States. It is understood some of them will go to Odessa where the situation is described as chaotic.

EX-SERVICE MEN WILL BE AIDED BY CLEAN-UP SQUAD

Joseph A. Hueneman, advance agent for the Ohio Clean-Up Squad, which is endeavoring to reach every ex-service man deserving of government compensation, was in this city for a short time, Thursday morning, and consulted with Miss Louise Shaffer, secretary of the Greene County Chapter of the Red Cross.

The Clean-Up Squad is a development of the Bill which consolidates the work of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, the United States Public Health Service and the Federal Board of Vocational Education, and is conducting a nation-wide clean-up of all claims of ex-service men.

Similar clean up squads are now operating in every state, and the Seventh District, under the supervision of William Coffin, of Cincinnati, has a squad in Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana. Such a squad at Dayton to consider the claims of all men in this vicinity will hear Greene county men September 9, at the Post Office building, Third and Wilkinson streets.

The men who appear before the squad are requested to bring with them their discharge papers and any other information they may have in relation to their claim. This squad then makes recommendations to the main office in Washington, and so far action on the claims has been obtained in two weeks.

The most difficult claims to adjudicate in the Bureau of War Risk Insurance now are those filed by veterans who have been discharged from the Military or Naval service for eighteen months or two years, according to Colonel Charles R. Forbes, Director of the Bureau. This is because it is difficult to find actual information concerning the disability, in many cases the records of the organization in which the men served failing to reveal any history of the claim.

In that case, the Bureau has to have other evidence and it is necessary for such men to present evidence that they were disabled at the time of discharge from the service and that the disability developed while in service. The American Legion is playing a big part in the clean-up drive at present, and Foody Post of this city has been active in an attempt to line up all the men in the county who deserve compensation.

THE ODOR OF THE BREATH.

In hydrocyanic poisoning the breath odors that occur in various diseased states.

I am asked to describe the breath will smell of peach kernels or bitter almonds, in phosphorus poisoning there is garlicky smell. The odors of either, chloroform, and alcohol are sufficiently familiar.

A sickish odor, where there is a profound stupor, will indicate opium poisoning. The odor here is as of laudanum. Local condition in the mouth may account for foul breath, especially in those who are strangers to the tooth brush. In such cases also the breath is stale and musty. There is a foul odor in all forms of mouth and siliar inflammation; it is dreadfully fetid in mercurial gum conditions and in mouth gangrene. Decayed teeth diseased jaw bone, pharyngeal or tonsillar inflammation and diphtheria are attended with unpleasant emanations. An intensely fetid breath, in the absence of the siccious causes, may be

Washington, Sept. 1.—President Harding in an address today to members of the entering class of the army war college here declared that "no matter where the best aspirations of the world may lead us, there may never be a time when there will be no necessity for armed forces."
"There is coming a time," the president said, "when burdens of armament will be diminished. I wish it with all my heart but it is perfectly futile to believe that there never may be armed conflicts."

NERVOUS FAINTING SPELLS

Mrs. Werner Tells How They Yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Camden, N. J.—"Before my baby was born I was run down and weak, had pains in my back and stomach, was very nervous and would have fainting spells. I certainly suffered awfully with those nervous fainting spells. I did not know anyone at times and used to scream. A doctor treated me for the spells but did not seem to do much good. I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills before so I began taking them again. I soon felt a change and could do my work without pain and was cured of those nervous spells. Now I have a nice fat baby girl and had an easy time at birth, thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. WILLIAM C. WERNER, 1216 Van Hook St., Camden, N. J.

When a wife finds her energies are flagging, she is weak, nervous, suffers from backache, the "blues" she should build her system up at once by taking that standard woman's medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as did Mrs. Werner.

SECOND DAY OF FESTIVAL DRAWS LARGE CROWD; FARMERS' PARADE AND WIRE WALKER DRAW GAZE OF BIG THROUGHS

Thousands of people thronged the streets of Xenia Wednesday, for the second day of the big fall festival being staged here this week under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce.

The folks were on the streets practically all day as this is holiday time in the city and Greene County is taking full advantage of the fun time.

Wednesday was Farmers' Day in name, and was featured by the farmers' parade which made up in quality what it lacked in quantity. Many farmers who had promised floats did not take part in the parade that started at 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and as a result, there were only four floats in the parade.

Of these the float prepared by the Liberty Band, from Beaver Creek township was considered the best and won the first prize of $25 awarded by the Festival Production Company. The prize winning float was the second of two big wagons and it was decorated with hay, straw and corn stalks. Huge bales of hay acted as thrones for several pretty girls in farm costumes, and a huge water wheel constructed of hay was a distinct novelty. The float was pulled by a hay wagon, atop of which rode the Liberty Band, all its members attired as "Rubes." The band played gay tunes during the parade.

The second prize winner was the machine of C. U. Bales of Xenia. R. R. 9 the float winning the prize of $10 offered it was decorated with green corn, vegetables and other farm products. One float spoke a record of achievement with a banner made of premium ribbons won at various fairs but was outside the money in the prize winning selections.

The $5 prizes awarded for the heaviest man, the tallest man and the shortest man in the parade all went to the Liberty Band delegation. Ollie Zink of Dayton, Rural Route 17, was adjudged the tallest man in the parade; W. R. Cashour, of Dayton, R. R. 17, weighing 240 pounds, was given the prize for the heaviest man in the parade and A. B. Shellabarger, Dayton, R. R. 16, won the prize for the shortest man in the parade.

The judges were County Commissioner R. E. Corry, Milo Anderson and Albert Oglesbee. While thousands gazed in awe, Marvellous Mills, proclaimed to be the premier high tight wire walker of the country, presented a free attraction on South Detroit Street that many said outlasted anything of the kind ever seen here.

Mills and his assistant, Foster Payne, performed on a wire stretched three stories high above Detroit street from the Gazette building to th Kingsbury building. Disguised first in an elephant skin, and walking in perfect time to the music played by the festival band, the two wire-walkers marched across the wire together first. Later Mills performed many dare-devil stunts by himself that drew exclamations of astonishment from the crowd below. The wire-walkers repeated the performance again Wednesday night at 11 o'clock by the light of many incandescents and in one instance sallied forth on the wire, attired in a full dress suit, which he discarded while standing on the wire.

The other free attractions took place as scheduled for the amusement of the crowds, and will be repeated afternoon and evening daily while the festival is here, at four, 4:30 and five o'clock in the afternoon and ten, 10:30 and 11 o'clock every night.

The other attractions on the mid way the merry-go round, the whip, the ferris wheel, the Philippine midgots, the "over the falls" and the various ball racks are all drawing good play afternoon and evening. Particularly interesting is the pig slide, where little trained pigs come out of their pens and slide down a chute every time the trap lock on their pens is struck by a baseball. Another game is to hit a canvas face with a baseball and see a monkey ride a bicycle around a loop.

Pleasure seeking crowds here, Wednesday afternoon and evening enriched the coffers of these concession men all day and there were plenty of crowds to go around.

TEAM RUNS AWAY DRIVER IS HURT

Francis Devoe of near Paintersville received internal injuries, and about 200 lacerations along his left side, when a team of horses he was driving became frightened in a field Wednesday, dragging Mr. Devoe several yards, the team and its driver finally becoming entangled in a barbed wire fence. Mr. Devoe received no broken bones and his injuries are not considered serious.

DINNER STORIES

Mrs. Smith was all dressed up, and that piqued Mrs. Rogers' curiosity as she met her on the road.

"Going to town, I suppose?" asked Mrs. Rogers.
 "No," answered Mrs. Smith.
 "Oh, to see your sister at Blakesville?"
 "No," was the sententious answer.
 "Going to see Cy's sister at the Corners, perhaps?"
 "No, I'm not," came the positive answer.
 "Well, my gracious!" exclaimed Mrs. Rogers impatiently. "Do you think I care a rap where you are going?"

The small touring company had found business wretchedly bad. The advance booking in the next town is good," had been the manager's words, and it was only this hope that held the little company together.

At last, in the late hours of one Sunday evening, the company reached the city of its hopes. The manager stepped from the train and gazed over the railway station railings.
 "What a glorious sunset!" he exclaimed, hoping thereby to raise the spirits of the company.
 "Garn," yelled a passing youngster, "that's the theatre burnin' down!"

"I want a set of golf clubs," said the worried-looking man.
 "Certainly, sir," answered the dealer in sporting goods. "By the way, I believe you bought a set of clubs from us yesterday."
 "So I did, but I'm determined to learn how to play that infernal game if I break every golf stick in town!"

Meeting an acquaintance who was looking rather dejected, Brown inquired the cause of the trouble.
 "I've been in the hands of the police," was the reply.
 "How's that, old fellow?"
 "Why, as I was walking down the center of the road a man on one side shot at a woman on the other. The bullet went through my arm and hit the woman. And as I was arrested, because it was through me the woman got shot."

Blank had had a day off and when he returned to the office the following morning his pals wanted to know why he looked so disgruntled.
 "Everything went wrong," Blank grumbled.
 "How was that?" one asked.
 "Ever go fishing with a girl?"
 "Once."
 "Did she protest against hurting the fish?"
 "No. She said she was sure they were perfectly happy, because they were all wagging their tails."

They had at last obtained a villa in a suburb of London, and he was hanging the pictures. There was a certain photograph of his wife which he decided must go up, but which was too small to suspend from the rail by a cord. He thereupon got a substantial nail and hammered it into the wall. There came a knock at the door. "It's Mr. Nexdor," said his wife, running to the window. "Your hammering has disturbed him." Mr. Nexdor hastened to apologize.
 "Oh, I don't mind the noise," replied Mr. Nexdor, cheerily. "I only came to ask if I might hang a picture on the other end of the nail."

DINNER STORIES

A man from the backwoods of western America visited New York for the first time one Christmas and went into a restaurant to have his Christmas dinner. All went well until the waiter brought him a napkin. The eyes of the backwoodsman flamed and, pulling a six-shooter from his hip pocket, he told that waiter his mind.

"You take that blamed thing away at once," he said, evenly. "I reckon I know when to use a handkerchief without having them darned hints thrown out!"

"What's all this straw doing on the street? Somebody sick?" asked the man passing.
 "Easy!" said the man standing at the gate, holding up a warning finger. "There's a young man calling on my daughter tonight who has been coming to see her for eight years. He's very easily frightened. We hope he's going to propose tonight and we are taking every precaution against his being startled."

Sam and Rastus were in a Jim Crow car en route to a plantation. They were discussing politics. Rastus was a partisan of the incumbent representative.
 "Well," said Sam, "Ah likes him all right, Ah guess, but his platform ain't no good."
 "Platform?" snorted Rastus. "Platform! Say, nigger, doan' you know dat a political platform is jes' like a platform on one o' dese yere railroad cabs—hit ain't meant to stan' on; hit's jes' meant to git in on!"

Two men were wandering through a country churchyard examining the quaint tombstones.

"Look here," said one, "here's a queer one: 'Sacred to Thomas Sitter, a Lawyer, and an Honest Man.'"

"What did they want to put all three in one grave for?" asked his companion.

A clergyman was in the habit of going up to his little girl's bedside each evening and telling her a story before she went to sleep.

One evening he told her such a thrilling tale that the child, sitting up in bed, looked very straight at her father and asked:

"Daddy, is that a true story or are you preaching?"

He—I had a realistic dream last night. She—Indeed! What was it?
 "Oh, I dreamed I proposed to you and you turned me over to your father."

"Yes, yes; and what did father say?"
 "Oh, I don't know. I only know I woke up and found myself on the floor."

"You say you want no government whatever?" said Mr. Raftery.

"None whatever," rejoined Mr. Dolan.

"I hope you get your wish for a minute or two. Then I can handle you any way I feel like without a chance of your calling a policeman."

AUTOMOBILE PARADE FRIDAY WILL BE STAGED 2 TIMES

Machines entering the Automobile Parade, that is to be staged in connection with the Festival, Friday, will be entered in different divisions.

The Festival Production Company, of Chillicothe, in charge of the week's festivities, will decorate from twelve to fifteen cars, free of charge which will be entered in the first division of the parade. Any one who wishes his car to be decorated by the company is requested to see Frank Davidson, secretary of the Greene County Automobile Club. The cars that will compose this division will not compete for the prizes in the parade.

The second division of the parade will be composed of the decorated passenger cars that will be entered to compete for the different prizes. Prizes to be awarded will be $50 for the first, $25 for the second and $10 for the third.

The third division will be of decorated floats. In addition to the new cars that will be entered in the parade, the cars that took part in the merchants parade, Tuesday may also enter the ranks.

Judging by the enthusiasm being demonstrated in the parade it is thought that the event will even exceed the result of Tuesday's parade. The parade Friday afternoon will be staged at 3:30 and will be repeated as one of the evening's events at seven o'clock.

FIFTY THREE BABIES GIVEN EXAMINATION AT RED CROSS CLINIC

Mary, Margaret, Betty Jane, and Nancy with Bobby, Jack, Billy and Joe, fifty three of them laughed, crowded and screamed in different keys at the baby clinic under the auspices of the Greene County Red Cross in the common pleas court room, Wednesday afternoon.

Fifty-three mamas put forth all their efforts at amusing and pacifying that many "perfect cherubs." And the "cherubs" were real "cherubs"—that is most of them were.

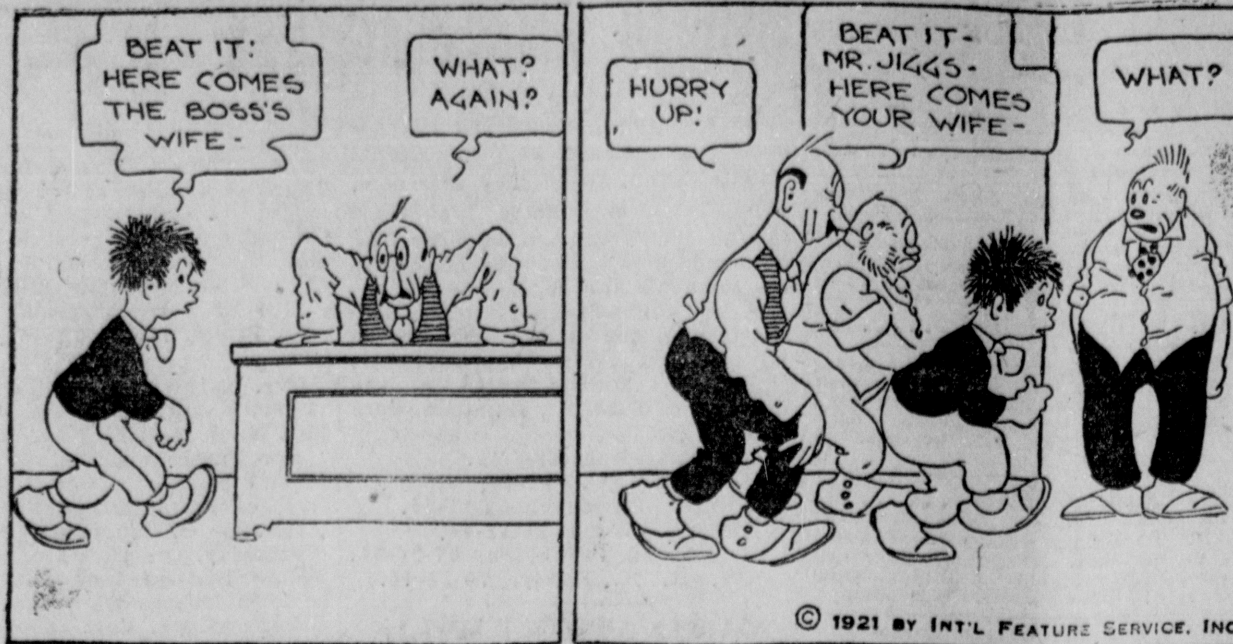

"The first afternoon has already made the baby clinic a success," said Mrs. David W. Cherry, who is chairman of the clinic committee. "It is a great success," said Dr. Harold C. Messenger who is in charge of the clinic.

Dr. Messenger, Dr. R. K. Finley, Dr. Reynburn McClellan Dr. Clarence Denner, Dr. F. W. Ogan, of Jamestown, and Dr. J. O. Stewart, of Cedarville assisted by the following nurses conducted the examination of the babies Wednesday: Mrs. M. R. Snodgrass, Mrs. Kelly, Miss Helen Evers, Miss Matilda Evers, Miss Alice McGeeney, Miss Kathleen McGeeney, Miss Norckauer. Dr. Stewart gave a fifteen minute talk to the mothers on infant care and feeding.

Each mother is given her baby's record as disclosed by the examination and a copy of the record is kept by the Red Cross. In addition various pamphlets dealing with care of children, disease prevention and the like are given to the mothers.

Dr. Messenger said, Wednesday evening that the common pleas court room is an ideal place for the clinic. There is plenty of room for doctors and nurses to work and plenty of space for mothers and

FIRST AID GIVEN AT RED CROSS BOOTH

"This is the most attractive Red Cross booth that I have seen at any festival this season," said a member of the fall festival band who received the attentions of a nurse at the booth of the Greene County Red Cross on Detroit Street near the main entrance of the courthouse Wednesday afternoon.

The musician was suffering from an old injury to one leg. The leg was bandaged by a nurse at the booth.

Everything necessary for first aid treatment is on hand in the booth, in addition to a white hospital bed, and chairs. Ice water is provided in a huge canteen which was loaned by P. B. Scott.

POLICE ARE MASSED IN CITY OF BERLIN

Berlin, August 31.—Police were massed here today for expected rioting in connection with the monster socialist demonstration against monarchists and militarist activities.

The air of the city was electric with expectancy and the strangest feature of the situation was that all the members of the abmet had left the city leaving no responsible government heads in the event of serious disorders.

Efficient Housekeeping

WHAT KITCHEN EQUIPMENT HAVE YOU.

It is a fact only half the kitchens in this country are well equipped. Perhaps this is because the average bride goes to housekeeping with only a few tools of work, intending to "add to them later on"—and then does not add to them; other expenses of housekeeping come up, or perhaps she prefers to put any extra money into living-room improvements or other things not actually essential.

I don't believe many women realize how really necessary it is to have a perfectly-equipped kitchen. When I go into such a place I always want to roll up my sleeves and go to work! But when I enter a poorly-equipped kitchen I have a discouraged feeling right away. And so do you, Reader. Friend, though you may not realize it. When our work is made easier by having the proper utensils, we are naturally more cheerful and happy ready to work.

Have you the following things in your kitchen? You should have.

Iron: Soup kettle (or for deep-fat frying), dripping pan, roasting pan of Russian iron (large), smaller one for ordinary use.

Wire: Baskets for deep-fat frying, broiler, dish drainer, potato masher, puree sieve, sink strainer, soap shaker, toaster, tea strainer, wire egg basket.

Miscellaneous: Jelly bag, pastry bag with tube, coffee mill, large needles, sewers, pail scales, meat grinder, aluminum cleaning pan, fireless cooker, Electric coffee percolator, Silver-lean pan, garbage can, potato ricer, vegetable brush, asbestos stove sheets, fancy teapot.

Nickel: 2 forks, 2 tablespoons, 4 teaspoons, 1 half-teaspoon.

Linen and Cloths: Hand towels, glass towels, dish towels, over cloths, holders, chamois skin, dish mop.

Agateware: Double boiler, colander, funnel, a one-quart, a two-quart, a four-quart, a six quart and an eight-quart saucepan, each with cover, a skimmer, a large basting spoon.

Aluminum: tea kettle (three-quart size), large frying pan, small frying pan, griddle, cookie-baking sheet, table spoon, triplicate measuring spoons, pancake turner, egg-slicer (for fancy salads or for spinach garnish).

Glass: 2 deep pie plates, 2 shallow pie plates, 1 large casserole, 1 smaller casserole, individual casseroles (or "ramekins"); butter crock with cover, fruit jars and jelly glasses (as many as needed), lemon squeezer, 2 measuring cups (one for liquid measuring and one for dry, when mixing a cake); spice jars and other containers.

Earthware: 2 large mixing bowls 2 small mixing bowls.

White enamelware: Dish pan (oval), pitcher, dipper, platter, large, round "milk pan."

Japanned Ware: Bread box, circular cake box, flour cannister, sugar cannister, tray.

Tin: Angel cake pan, apple corer, strawberry huller, biscuit doughnut and cookie cutters, 4 bread pans, deep and shallow cake pans, flour sifter, quart measure, pint measure, greater 2 sixwell muffin tins, steamer that fits any kettle, wheel egg beater.

Wooden: Bread board, chopping bowl, ice cream freezer, rolling pin spoon, step-chair (potato masher for crushing nuts, etc) plank (for steak).

Steel: Bread knife, can opener, cork screw, ice pick, meat knife, potato paring knife, nut cracker, spatula, double-runner chopping knife.

Next Thursday I shall write upon "Equipping the Cleaning Closet."

NEW NUMBERS FOR HOUSES ARE NOW IN USE

Washington C. H., Sept. 1.—Postmaster Glenn B. Rodgers announced Monday that fully fifty per cent of the property owners had installed new house numbers in compliance with the new system recently put into effect and is of the belief that the remainder will speedily put up the right numbers of their property.

The results so far have been very gratifying, and within a short time it is believed the numbering will be so complete that this city will be one of the best numbered in the state.

JAIL DELIVERY IS DISCOVERED

Chicago, Sept. 1.—An alleged attempt by a "trustee" in the county jail to free Gene Geary, Carl Wanderer and Frank Ligren, under sentence of death was revealed by jail authorities after they had found a partly completed tunnel through one of the jail walls. Jacob Bowman, a trustee, who has served three months of a year's sentence for larceny was believed by police to be responsible for the attempted jail delivery.

THE NEW GENERATION

MARGARET PRETENDS IT IS EVENING

*CHAPTER 26

"I've been terribly silly," Margaret remarked as she led the way to the dining room. "I felt so really out of place in this gown that I have told Hannah we will pretend it is evening, so that I may feel properly dressed."

"I have felt as if I were in fairy land ever since I came. This heightens the impression," Forrester said as they entered the softly, rose lighted room. "My business clothes are frightfully incongruous."

"No, it is I who am incongruous," Margaret answered, then nervously to Hannah. "I am not at home Hannah should anyone call." She turned to Forrester:

"I felt that was necessary," she apologized, "unless I wished to pass the remainder of my life in an insane asylum." Again she blushed hotly.

"I feel honored." Once more Margaret changed the subject. There was so much of real admiration, so much of an intimate regard in Forrester's words and manner that she felt a bit frightened. In spite of herself she thought of what Horstense had said to Joan:

"Widows older than your mother marry again."

Margaret was not at all in love with Craig Forrester. Although she admired him immensely. Why shouldn't she? He had been the first man she had admitted to any sort of intimacy; the only man from whom she had received any attention that could be called personal.

He was good-looking, clever, knew the world—that he admired her was flattering.

"A penny for your thoughts," Forrester, who had been watching her for a moment asked.

"They aren't worth half that," she smiled, blushing furiously. Suppose he had read her mind? How perfectly terrible it would be, and how he would despise her. She recalled that he had told Joan: "Mr. Forrester hasn't asked me to marry him."

Craig Forrester now put himself out to entertain her. He had been delighted with her naive pretense of evening so that her gown would not seem so out of place. He saw too that she was still embarrassed, and so a bit uncomfortable. But soon she forgot she was in evening clothes. Could this be the man sitting opposite her whom Mrs. Thompson had said never talked of his travels. Why his story was a perfect Arabian Nights entertainment. That he was exerting himself simply for her entertainment she would not have believed. Had she known that few, even of his intimate friends, ever had heard him talk as he was now talking to her she would have been even more flattered than she was.

Luncheon finished Craig Forrester took his departure after asking if he might call again when in town, and also if he could hope for a reply if he dropped her a line.

"I shall be delighted to see you," she told him simply, "and trust I shall be more appropriately clothed. And I shall be glad to hear from you."

"But I want you to wear that dress!" he said.

Margaret changed the subject quickly, then bade him good bye.

"Come quickly Hannah and help me out of this dress! I must put it away before Joan comes, and she will be here in half an hour."

"I don't see why you get so scared of Miss Joan. She ought to be proud of her ma lookin' so young and pretty."

"Oh, but she thinks it so foolish, Hannah! Do hurry!"

"There! It's all undid. And there goes that bell."

Margaret nervously folded the dress and laid it in the box. Then as she was removing her shoes and stockings, Hannah returned, a long box in her arms.

"Posies I reckon," she said as she laid it on the dresser.

"Open it, Hannah," the shoes and stockings followed the dress into the box, then with a sigh, Margaret drew on plain black stockings and reached for the plainest afternoon dress she had. She would do penance for wearing the rose and gray.

"Oh!" she gasped as the opened box disclosed American Beauties with yard long stems.

"Here's a note," Hannah said, just as Joan came rushing into the room after her usual impetuous fashion.
